About us

Ingenious Physical Therapy Associates was founded in 2019 with a goal to equip and empower Physiotherapists from South Asia with best platform and information for professional growth and global quality of life. IPTA, in collaboration with the University of Montana and Rehab Essentials, USA, is making the Doctor of Physical Therapy Program affordable for South Asians (India, Bhutan, Bangladesh, Nepal, and Sri Lanka). Since January 2020, we have successfully enrolled 9 batches, with more batches on the way (November,2022).

University of Montana was founded in 1893 and is a reputable public university. Doctor of Physical Therapy is the clinical degree offered in USA for Physical Therapists. IPTA is the approved key partner to the university and is the official entity responsible for screening and admitting qualifying Indian students to the tDPT program. Students upon admission will get a unique ID and Password from the University to access course requirements and complete the curriculum.

IPTA is equipped to guide students through the complete process of credential evaluation, credit deficiency fulfilment, NPTE Exam preparation, VISA guidance and also will provide jobs for eligible candidates in the USA post completion of the licensing Exam. IPTA will not only assist in finding a perfect job in the USA but also will train and offer support to be successful at the job. IPTA will also have opportunities for the tDPT graduates to work as mentors for the program.

IPTA, through its optional mentorship program will provide additional support to the enrolled students to ensure they are successful. Students who need additional assistance or guidance can enrol in the mentorship program and have access to highly qualified mentors. This program is designed only as an adjunct to the tDPT program. Students will have direct support, throughout the curriculum, from the professors at University of Montana.

tDPT – Course Delivery Format

Course delivery is online format. Each student will login to their assigned courses in a particular sequence, complete their assignments, participate in case discussions, review videos, lectures, presentations pertaining to their course objectives, take part in discussions, quizzes and complete required tests.

Students will also have to take tests and complete projects periodically as per course objectives and instructor requirements. Students are required to complete a Capstone Project as a requirement of the curriculum to obtain a tDPT degree. For this project each student will have an assigned mentor from the University of Montana. Students will be interacting in a unified classroom, giving them the opportunity to interact with other students across the globe. All students from different countries including USA will be in same class.
